Administration Favors Cut

House Faces Decision Today On Calculated Defense Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) The House faced a decision today on whether to take "a calculated risk" and cut the strength of the Army from 900,000 to 870,000 men during the year starting July 1.

The administration favors the cut.

At issue is an amendment that would add 99 million dollars to a bill appropriating $38,310,561,000 to run the Defense Department during the 1958-59 fiscal year.

The big money bill, as sent to the House by its Appropriations Committee, provides among other things for an 870,000-man Army June 30, 1959. That is what the administration recommended. It is 30,000 less than projected strength at the end of this month and 127,000 below actual strength last June 30.

The amendment to block the cut is sponsored by Rep. Robert L. Sikes (D-Fla.), who claimed enough backing to give him a 50-50 chance to win.

Sikes, voicing concern over what he called continued cuts in Army strength since the Korean War ended, said: "These cuts constitute a vital deficiency in our national defense posture. The calculated risk of a further reduction to 870,000 men for the Army is too great to accept. It was not proposed by the Joint Chiefs of Staff but was dictated by purely fiscal considerations."

Sikes is a member of the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, whose chairman, Rep. George Mahon (D-Tex.), opposes the amendment.

Mahon noted that the committee's recommendations provide for increases in the strength of the Marine Corps, the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve and for a regular Army equipped with the most modern weapons.

There is no known controversy over the committee's manpower proposals for a 630,000-man Navy, 200,000 Marines, and Air Force personnel of 850,000 by June 30, 1959, for a total strength of 2,550,000 men.

New Public Schools Head Arrives Here To Look for Residence

The new superintendent of Sedalia public schools, Thomas J. Norris, arrived in Sedalia Tuesday for a two-day visit to look over the housing situation prior to moving his family here in July. This was his first visit to Sedalia, and he said he was favorably impressed with the people here. During his short stay he met several people but did not make a public appearance.

His contract with the Harrodsburg, Ky., High School expires June 30, and he will move to Sedalia shortly thereafter, he said.

He replaces Heber Hunt, who is retiring after 33 years with the Sedalia school system.

De Gaulle Starts His Algerian Conference

Talks at Meeting

Federal Civil Defense Official Is Guest Here

Benjamin C. Killian, radiological defense officer for the Federal Civil Defense Agency was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Pettis County Civil Defense Council at the courthouse Tuesday evening.

Killian talked on the effects of an atomic explosion, such as heat, blast and radiation on civilian populations. He showed some interesting colored slides on some of the test explosions touched off during the past few years. FCDA headquarters is located at Battle Creek, Mich.

Capt. Fred McCulley, chemical, biological and radiological defense officer at Whiteman AFB, spoke on the effects of radio-active fallout on a populated area. He explained how to avoid excessive exposure to fallout, and how to care for a person who had received an overdose of radioactivity.

The meeting began with a general assembly in the courtroom. Peggy Hewitt Homan, Pettis County Civil Defense director, said there were more than 50 interested persons attending. After the general assembly and a discussion on the necessity of all individuals concerned with future alerts having an identification card, the meeting was broken up into various committee meetings.

It was brought out that all persons taking an active part in alerts would be required to have an ID card with their picture on it, or be detained by the police. This will include emergency workers, newsmen and civil defense officials.

At the committee meetings, the members selected a chairman. Most of these posts were filled and the individual named has accepted the responsibility. The people selected as chairmen for the committees are: Gentry Patterson, communications; P. A. Silvers, education; Merle Vaughn, mass feeding; J. R. Fritz, legal; Leon Hall, manpower; Carl Johnson, food distribution; Bill Hopkins, intelligence; Mrs. G. A. Ragland, shelter; Emerald Holdeman, supply; Dan Wolf, transportation; the Rev. Charles Halbrook, religion; Capt. Willis Javals, fire and rescue; Harlan Snow and Gene Winslow, public affairs and information and Dr. J. C. Alexander, radiological defense.

During the open discussion period, it was decided there are four main problems facing the agency in case of attack. These problems are: How to care for evacuees from the Kansas City area; How to care for evacuees in case Sedalia receives a near-miss; What to do if Sedalia receives a direct hit; and how to take care of Pettis County evacuees.

George Thompson, chairman of the Pettis County Agency, said "People should realize that the small amount of work involved in the preparation for an attack is of no consequence compared to the risk involved." The officials were well pleased with the turnout, but Mrs. Homan said she would like to see more people from Pettis County attend the meetings. So far, she said, there has been only a sprinkling of people from out of Sedalia present at the meetings.

A proposed survey of all residences in Pettis County was discussed, and it was agreed to conduct this survey in June. Various organization members will make a survey of all basements to find out how much protection and cooperation Pettis County will have if needed. As this will involve people from all over the county, more people have been asked to attend the meetings.

Ike Delivers Address To Naval Grads

Flew to Annapolis By Helicopter To Commencement

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) President Eisenhower flew here by helicopter today to deliver the Commencement address at the U. S. Naval Academy.

His 'copter landed at the academy after a 23-minute flight from the south grounds of the White House.

The capacity audience of 11,000 in the academy's big new field-house gave Eisenhower a standing ovation at the start and conclusion of his talk, but listened in solemn silence all the while he spoke.

After his talk the President personally presented diplomas to 145 honor men among the 900 graduates. The first man in his class was John W. Poindexter of Odon, Ind.

Eisenhower congratulated Poindexter and shook his hand, then chatted with him for a moment.

There was another big hand when Eisenhower handed a diploma to Edwin W. (Ned) Oldham, football star who played a big part in Navy's victory over Army last fall.

The President flew here from Washington by helicopter to address the class of '58. It was the first time he had attended graduation ceremonies here and his visit to the academy since he took office in 1953.

Only Second Best

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 225-pound man, injured seriously in a spat with his wife when she hit him with the family car, went to bat for the little woman in court yesterday.

John Albert Green Sr.'s efforts were successful, but he got the worst of it anyway.

He told the judge his tiny wife "didn't mean to hit me very hard" with the car. The judge dismissed charges of assault and battery against Mrs. Green.

But Green, whose drinking admittedly led to the spat, was fined $50 for public drunkenness.

Crowd Gives New Premier Big Welcome

2 Junta Members Say General Gives Them His Blessing

ALGIERS (AP)—Premier Charles de Gaulle arrived today and opened a fateful meeting with French insurgents who seized control of Algeria from the French government he now heads. Two members of the ruling junta said he had given them his blessings.

The Premier got a tumultuous welcome from the crowds from the moment his plane touched down from Paris.

Waiting beside the runway were Gen. Raoul Salan, the top insurgent commander, and all the other leading military men and civilians of the Public Safety Committee now ruling Algeria.

Dressed in his general's uniform, the usually grim De Gaulle beamed as he stepped from the 500-mile-an-hour jetliner.

Tremendous cheers went up from the huge crowd, which broke through police lines at several points. However, the crowds were quickly pushed back.

The airport ceremonies lasted less than 15 minutes. Then De Gaulle and Salan entered a car and sped into the city.

The general carried with him France's hopes that he can reunite the rebellious French in Algeria with the motherland and also that he can make a start toward settling the costly bloody Moslem war for independence.

Underneath the hero's welcome was a wide band of uncertainty about the new Premier's program for ending the rebellion carried on for nearly four years by Moslem nationalists.

These questions are paramount: Will he try to settle the problem by more liberal policies toward the Moslems?

If he proposes "integration" — of French and Moslems — politically, socially and economically — how far will he go?

How can he reconcile the aspirations of nearly nine million Moslems with the deep-rooted interests and emotions of 1½ million Frenchmen, who from the first have insisted Algeria is French?

In short, the word "integration" bristles with almost as many problems here and with some of the same emotional overtones as it does in the Southern parts of the United States.

No one in Algiers apparently knows the answers to these questions.

As far as you can determine, not one of the officials in the military-civilian revolutionary regime here has the slightest inkling of what is in De Gaulle's mind.

And how do the Moslems regard the immediate outlook?

Breaks Parole By Using Judge's Car

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A trusty at the Jackson County jail drove a probate judge's 1957 convertible home Tuesday and is no longer a trusty.

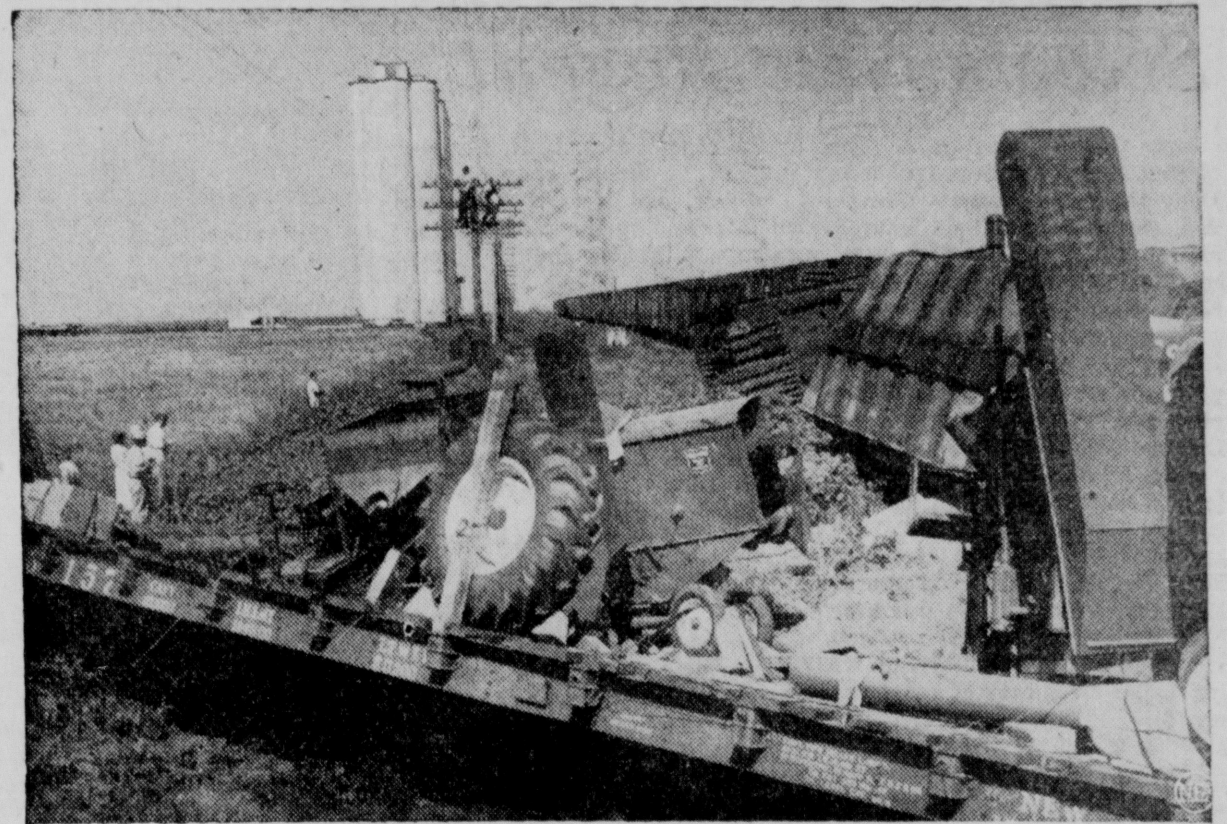

Twenty-one-year-old Jack Vaughn was assigned to wash cars in the basement garage at the courthouse.

Probate Judge Leslie Welch went to get his car Tuesday afternoon and it was missing. The car was found 45 minutes later parked in front of Vaughn's home. The former trusty said he took the car after his mother telephoned and reported family trouble.

FCC Probers Investigate Legal Fee

Big Sum Reported To Have Been Paid To Ex-FCC Member

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further investigation is planned of a $55,000 legal fee reportedly paid to Robert F. Jones, former member of the Federal Communications Commission, the House Committee on Legislative Oversight said Tuesday.

A memorandum in the committee's record said Jones was employed in September, 1956, by the Signal Hill Telecasting Corp., which was granted Channel 2 in St. Louis in February, 1957.

Jones told a reporter that he was paid "whatever the record shows." He said he had not been asked to testify before the committee.

Jones was a member of the FCC from 1947 to 1952.

Subcommittee counsel Robert W. Lishman said the report on Signal Hill's legal fees "will be subject to connection with testimony of witnesses at a future date."

The memorandum showed these legal fees:

Stolar, Kuhlman and Meredith, Washington, first employed 1952, paid $47,000, owing $64,000.

Roberts and McInnis, Washington, first employed January, 1955, paid $5,000, owing $20,000.

Robert F. Jones, Washington, first employed September, 1956, paid $55,000.

An attorney on the subcommittee staff, Stephen J. Angland, said Jones was not an attorney of record in the Channel 2 matter.

Glaize Bridge Will Close for Repairs

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Glaize Bridge over the Lake of the Ozarks on U. S. 54 between Eldon and Camdenton will be closed Tuesday for resurfacing, the State Highway Department announced today.

Highway patrolmen will be stationed at the junction of Routes 52 and 54 in Eldon and at 5 and 54 in Camdenton to re-route through traffic via Versailles on Routes 5 and 52.

A Narrow Lead

Voting Margin Shows Favor To Dodgers' Chavez Stadium

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"Yes" votes on the baseball issue clung to a narrow lead today in counting suspenseful and unpredictable as an extra-inning World Series game.

Returns from 800 of the city's 4,519 precincts showed a 3,625 margin in favor of letting the Dodgers build a new stadium in Chavez Ravine.

"Yes" votes totaled 56,091; "no" 52,466.

A total of 62.3 per cent of the city's 1,105,427 registered voters cast ballots in the heaviest non-presidential election turnout in Los Angeles history.

Actually, the narrow margin in favor had suffered a hairline setback. At the last previous official announcement the bulge was 4,018.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley met with newsmen today and said: "What can I say? It's just too close to say anything."

City Councilman Patrick McGee, one of the leaders of opposition to the stadium deal said: "It's too soon to tell. But I'm satisfied. The issue has been submitted to the people. And that's what we wanted. . . ."

"The outlying districts are already showing a leading margin for the 'no' side. And this may offset the small margin the downtown districts showed in the early counting."

The extraordinary local interest in the Chavez Ravine issue was noted by O'Malley.

"I was intrigued," he said, "in the interest in the referendum as indicated by the headlines in the Los Angeles newspapers. The senatorial and gubernatorial elections were secondary."

The unusual voter turnout was held largely responsible for the sluggish rate at which returns were being announced. Veteran newsmen said they could not recall when election results were so slow.

It would take a simple majority for the Dodgers to win the Chavez Ravine property, located just a mile from the Civic Center.

The deal submitted to the voters as Proposition B, would convey some 300 acres of Chavez Ravine property to the ball club in exchange for Dodger-owned Wrigley Field, a former Coast League park.

The Dodgers would spend up to 12 million dollars on a new four-tiered stadium seating about 52,000. They also would construct a 40-acre public recreation park in the ravine at a cost of up to $500,000 and would maintain it at a cost of $60,000 a year for 20 years.

The city would spend up to two million dollars grading the ravine site for the team and the county would invest $2,740,000 on access roads.

French-Tunisian Dispute Heading For Negotiation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The explosive French-Tunisian dispute appeared headed back toward friendly negotiations today.

U.N. diplomats expressed the belief that conciliatory messages exchanged by Premier de Gaulle and President Bourguiba had averted a Security Council fight which might have had far-reaching effects.

The 11-nation Council was scheduled to resume debate today on French and Tunisian complaints against each other, but informed quarters said the emphasis would be on a renewal of private talks.

Tunisian sources said Ambassador Mongi Slim would declare his country's readiness to resume negotiations with France on the basis worked out by the U.S.-British good offices committee earlier this year.

French Ambassador Guillaume Georges-Picot was expected to say whether France would accept these terms or, if not, just how France proposed to approach the problem.

The good offices team of U.S. Undersecretary of State Robert D. Murphy and British Middle East expert Harold Beeley had recommended that both sides shelve frontier disputes while they negotiated on points where agreement appeared possible.

The major sore spot for Tunisia is the continued presence of 22,000 French troops at Tunisian bases where they have been stationed under a 1956 treaty. France complains of Tunisian aid to the Moslem rebels in Algeria.

Sedalia Concert Band Will Play Thursday Night

The second concert of the season will be presented by the Sedalia Concert Band under the direction of Lloyd H. Knox, at 8 p.m. Thursday, June 5, at Liberty Park. The musicians for this occasion are provided by a grant from the Recording Industries Trust Funds obtained by the cooperation of Local 22, American Federation of Musicians.

The Sedalia Park Board is co-sponsor with the Recording Industries Trust Funds.

The program follows:

"Midwest Glory March," Edwards; "Valiant Youth March," King; highlights from "The Cat and the Fiddle," Kern; "Hostrauser's March," Chambers; "A Kiss in the Dark," Herbert; "Hello, Young Lovers," Rodgers and Hammerstein; "Seventy - Six Trombones," Wilson; and "The Nation Awakening," Dennis.

After intermission: "The Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa; "Clarinet Polka," Bennett; "Dancing in the Dark," Schwartz; "June Is Bustin' Out All Over," Rodgers and Hammerstein; "The New Colonial March," Hall; "The Men of Ohio March," Fillmore; and "Star Spangled Banner."

Rooster Feeding Cause Of $10,000 Blaze

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Gary Lawson, 3, and Billy Miller, 4, wanted to give Gary's pet rooster Cock-a-doodle-doo a drink.

They tipped over a can of gasoline.

A heater pilot light ignited the fumes. The flash attracted Mrs. Barbara Lawson, who was across the street.

As she rushed home, Billy burst out shouting "Gary's trying to save his rooster. . . . There's a fire!"

Then Gary ran out and sobbed in his mother's arms: "I tried to save Cock-a-doodle-doo."

He clutched a single feather. The rooster died in the fire, which caused $10,000 damage.

Blacksnakes Invade Missouri Farm Home

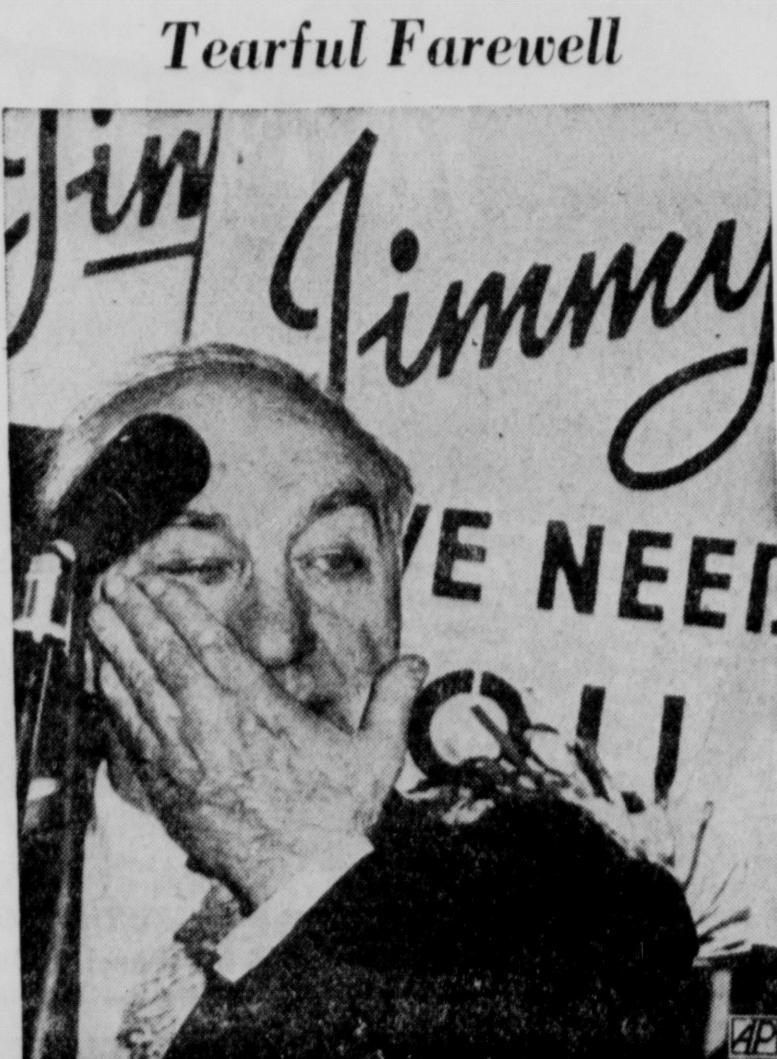

CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP)—There'll be an 80-acre farm for sale near Carthage if those blacksnakes return, says Mrs. Leroy Harp.

The snakes invaded her house recently and members of the family have seen at least four and heard others crawling around.

Mrs. Harp said she found one six feet long beside her bed. It crawled upstairs and out of sight. One was found in the living room, another in a bedroom and one was seen escaping through a window. Two were killed.

The blacksnakes, described as harmless, haven't been seen since the family routed them with pistol shots and clubs.

But Mrs. Harp said, "I'm just a nervous wreck."

Memorial Day Program

Osage Chapter, DAR, Selects New Regent

Miss Jessie Browneller was elected regent of Osage Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the meeting held Saturday afternoon, May 24, at the country home of Mrs. C. W. Mathieson on North Grand Avenue.

Officers of Osage Chapter are elected for two years and those who will serve with Miss Browneller are: First vice-regent, Miss Lillian Thomson; second vice-regent, Miss Marion Keens; chaplain, Mrs. Dimmitt Hoffman; recording secretary, Mrs. John Snodgrass; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Herbert Mason; treasurer, Mrs. Frank Armstrong; registrar, Miss Mamie McCormick; historian, Mrs. W. P. Tucker; librarian, Mrs. Ira Leiter. Members of the board are Mrs. A. L. Walter and Mrs. J. E. Mitchell.

The meeting was presided over by the regent, Mrs. L. H. Hodges. Mrs. P. L. Strole, chaplain, led in prayer, and Miss Nell Longan led in repeating the pledge of allegiance to the flag and the American's Creed.

The national anthem was sung, with Mrs. E. F. Yancey at the piano.

Guests introduced were Mrs. Lumina Holliday with her daughter, Mrs. A. L. Walter, and Mrs. Melvin Turner with her two sons, Melvin, Jr., and David.

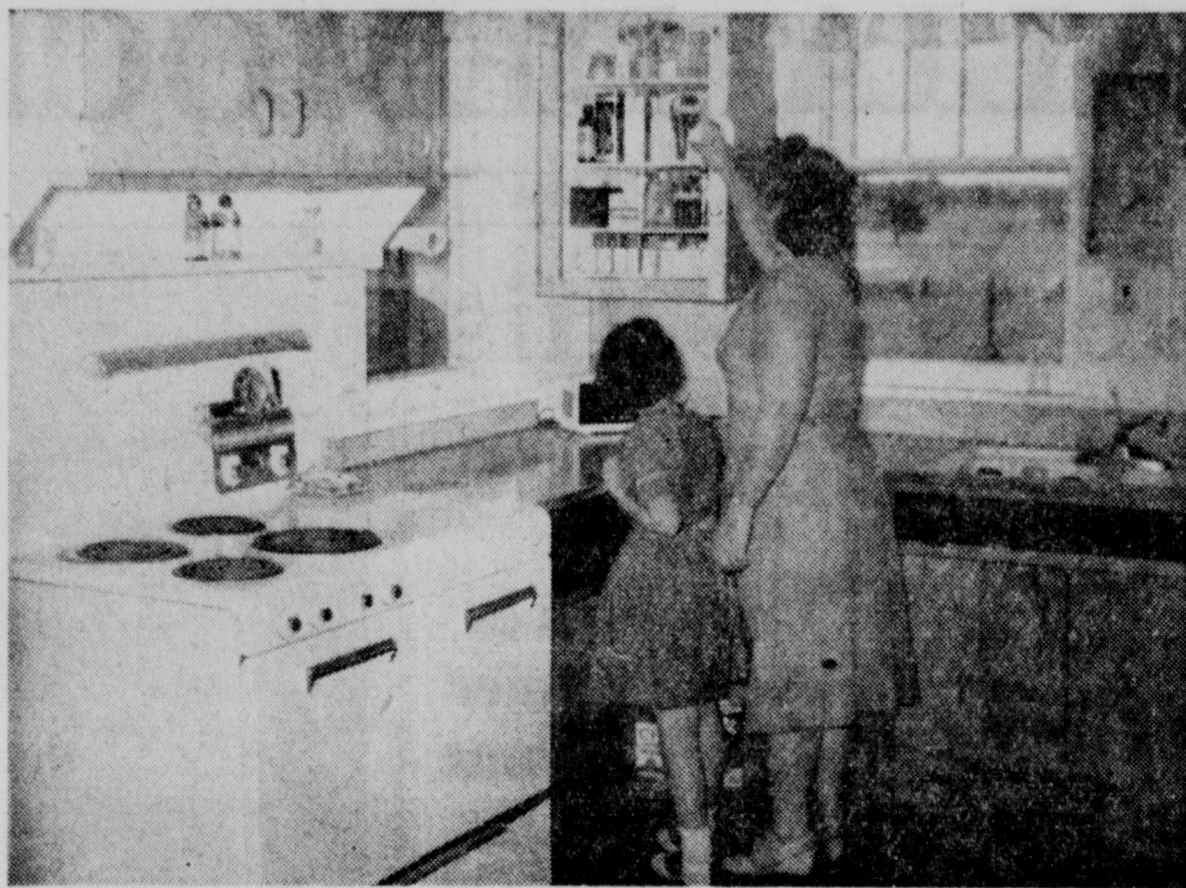

Mrs. A. F. Scott, in charge of the national defense part of the program for the day, spoke on "Federal Aid to Education," stating that a threat to liberty comes from centralized government and that education, particularly, must not be permitted to become an agency of the political power and, inevitably, a transmission belt for its propaganda.

Incidentally, she said, nowhere in the Constitution is any power concerning education delegated to the federal government. This field was clearly among those reserved by the ninth and tenth amendments to the states and to the people. We should see to it, she concluded, that our states and localities do not fail in their responsibilities to provide proper schools and schooling for the children of our nation.

Mrs. Herbert Mason, program chairman, introduced Mrs. A. L. Walter, who spoke on "Memorial Day." She told of Americans generally thinking of Memorial Day as an American institution of our own originating, and accepting with more or less vagueness its having begun following the great Civil War, as a military observance which grew into a more universal significance. But this is true only insofar as it concerns the establishing of one designated date, proclaimed a legal holiday, she said.

For the custom of bestowing flowers on the dead is practically worldwide and as old as history. It is recorded that ancient Greeks performed impressive rites at each new grave which involved offerings of olives and flowers; the head of the departed was crowned with a floral wreath; later a luxuriance of bloom springing from the grave was considered a token of the happiness of his spirit.

Records show the Romans, the old Druids, Chinese and Japanese and all peoples have felt an essential need of expressing reverence, loyalty and love for the dead and a continued belief in the life beyond.

In our country the day was called Decoration Day as often as Memorial Day. In 1888 Congress, making it a legal holiday in the District of Columbia, called it Decoration Day. The general adoption of Memorial Day may be dated from 1893, when the first edition of the Standard Dictionary gave preference to this title.

Following Mrs. Walter's talk, Mrs. W. P. Tucker spoke on her work with the Junior American Citizenship Club at Oak Grove School. She introduced Melvin Turner, Jr., fifth grade student, who read his paper, "Document Heritage," which he had written for the state contest.

She then introduced David Turner, fourth grade pupil at Oak Grove, who read his paper on "Our Heritage." He told of our schools, churches, constitution, great speeches, all being heritages, the foundations of our peaceful, happy lives.

Mrs. Hodges presented David Turner with an award, the first place national award of the Junior American Citizenship Clubs of the United States.

Mrs. Hodges asked Mrs. Frank Armstrong to tell of her trip to Washington, D.C., to the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She told of the Congress, the beauty of Washington and the famous cherry blossoms, and of beautiful Williamsburg.

The regent spoke of her presenting the good citizenship pin of DAR to Mary Wallace, senior high school student, at Smith-Cotton High School assembly. She also told of Mrs. C. F. Scott going to Smithton to present a good citizenship pin to Elizabeth Sanders, a senior student at Smithton High School.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey read a letter from Baird Fisher, new state regent, inviting Mrs. Hodges to become a member of the National Museum Committee of DAR.

Mrs. R. B. Rupard told of sending four large boxes of clothing contributed by members to the St. Mary's School for Indian girls at Springfield, S. D.

Following the meeting, guests and members were invited to the dining room, where tea was served from the beautifully appointed tea table.

Assisting Mrs. Mathieson in entertaining Osage Chapter were Mrs. E. F. Yancey, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. John Pelham, Mrs. Nell Longan, Mrs. C. E. Yeater, Miss Lillian Thomson, Miss Maurine Harris and Mrs. J. D. Loofbourrow.

The next meeting will be a 9 o'clock breakfast at Flat Creek Inn on Flag Day.

Saunders Wins GOP Bid For S. E. Governor

PIERRE, S. D. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Phil Saunders, 38-year-old career politician from Milbank, won the Republican nomination for governor with a majority of nearly two to one in yesterday's primary.

With 75 per cent of the state's 1,969 precincts tabulated, Lt. Gov. Roy Houck and State Rep. Charles Lacey conceded defeat. At that point Saunders had 38,038, Houck 15,644 and Lacey 6,813.

Saunders far exceeded pre-primary polls, which showed him a heavy winner but not with as big a margin as he received. The GOP governorship provided the highlight of the primary marked by a light turnout. There was a lack of major issues and no local contests.

Saunders will be opposed in the November election by Ralph Hersey, Houghton farmer and merchant, who was unchallenged for the primary.

Gov. Joe Foss, finishing out his legal two terms, will seek the 1st District congressional seat now held by Rep. George McGovern (D-SD). Neither had a primary contest.

Rep. E. Y. Berry (R-SD) also was unopposed in the 2nd District. But a scramble appeared in the making among six Democratic aspirants for the nomination.

With about a quarter of the district's precincts counted, none of the six approached the 35 per cent majority state law says the winner must have.

Food Poison Turns Lunch To Nightmare

MARION, N.C. (AP) — Food poisoning turned a gay year's-end school luncheon into a nightmare for 202 retching, screaming children and teachers at a small grade school yesterday.

The tide of ill youngsters completely overran the small community hospital and taxed emergency facilities at the school.

Doctors said all patients will recover.

The sudden emergency was met quickly when officials at Marion General Hospital executed a never-practiced hospital disaster plan.

The 60-bed Marion General Hospital admitted 202 children and teachers from the 227-pupil Eugene Cross Elementary School.

Dr. W.F.E. Lostin, public health officer, suspected that the poisoning came from ham.

The hospital, alerted by school officials when the first symptoms appeared about two hours after lunch, started preparations immediately for handling an emergency situation. Hospital staff members moved 19 ambulatory patients to nearby nurses quarters, discharged four patients and emptied all hospital beds except four.

Additional beds—many of them cots and roll-aways donated by townspeople after a radio appeal—were placed in hospital corridors. The nurses' lounge and living room became wards.

The town's medical force was supplemented by nurses and rescue squads from nearby towns.

Pupils received first aid at the school. Ambulances shuttled the pupils and teachers to the hospital.

State highway patrolmen rushed additional medical supplies from Asheville, 35 miles to the west.

By early evening many of the children had recovered sufficiently to chatter excitedly about the situation.

Eight-year-old Buddy Honeycutt, a curly-haired second-grader in a bed near the third-floor staircase, whispered to a newsman: "Where's my bristles? I want to go home now."

Looted Bodies Of Crash Victims Being Recovered

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) —The looted bodies of the 45 victims of Mexico's worst air disaster were being brought to Guadalajara today for identification.

At the rain-swept, mountaintop scene five miles away, investigators sought to learn what caused the Constellation of the Aeronaves de Mexico line to crash into El Picacho Peak Monday night during an electrical storm.

The plane was climbing away from a takeoff. One official said 10 feet more altitude would have taken it safely over the peak.

The dead included 13 American and two Canadian passengers—all residents of California—and two American engineers of the crew.

The passengers from California had boarded the plane at Tijuana for vacations or business in Mexico City, the Constellation's destination 290 miles southeast of Guadalajara. Their bodies will be flown back to Tijuana as soon after identification as possible.

The rest of the victims were Mexicans.

The army was ordered to make a house-by-house search of Tlajomulco village, about four miles from the crash scene, in an effort to recover property looted from the wreckage.

Searchers arriving from Guadalajara more than eight hours after the crash found the bodies and luggage stripped of money, jewelry and some clothing. Officials charged that villagers, awakened by the explosion and flames, had raided the wreck.

Robber Tells Clients That Place Is Closing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A robber tied up the operator of a tavern in a back room yesterday, then calmly walked to the front of the bar and told customers the place was closing. He locked the door and left with about $330.

Mrs. Gladys Heotis, 47, co-owner of the Main Street Bar, said the man followed her when she went into the back room to turn on an air conditioner. She freed herself.

Convict May Not Testify to Jury

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A convict may not appear before a county grand jury to testify about an alleged crime syndicate here.

Maurice (Chick) Clark, 28, already has testified in circuit court that he was part of a syndicate. He is under two 10-year sentences for robbery.

His attorney, James L. McMullin, said Tuesday that Prosecutor William A. Collet had indicated further charges would be filed against Clark if the convict's testimony before the grand jury discloses more offenses.

Clark's prosecution had been handled by Austin F. Shute, assistant prosecutor who was fired by Collet last week. Collet asserted Shute prematurely disclosed evidence intended for the grand jury.

Collet denied yesterday he had threatened to press new charges against Clark. He said he would recommend that the grand jury not indict Clark, but would not dismiss an indictment if it were voted.

GOP Views Farley With Misgivings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans viewed with some misgivings today the entry of James A. Farley into the New York senatorial scramble.

Farley, the old pro of the first two elections of Franklin D. Roosevelt, announced in New York Tuesday he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the Senate. Twice the Democratic national chairman, he retired from active politics in 1944.

This projected return to politics of the genial former postmaster general complicated an already involved situation in his own party. It gave no cheer to Republicans seeking agreement on a candidate to succeed retiring GOP Sen. Irving M. Ives.

Nominees of both parties will be chosen at conventions late in August.

Sen. Andrew F. Schoepel (R-Kan), chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, said Farley's move was not unexpected.

"If Jim Farley can get the nomination, he will be a formidable candidate," Schoepel said. "If he is the nominee, our Republican friends in New York will have their work cut out for them."

Although Farley is 70, his chances of getting the nomination were generally regarded as fairly good by party politicians to whom he is widely known.

However, Gov. Averell Harriman, a candidate to succeed himself, apparently is going to have a great deal to say about the state convention's choice of the senatorial nominee. Harriman stood by FDR when Farley broke with his chief over the third term.

Harriman is credited in some quarters with favoring Thomas K. Finletter former secretary of the Air Force and a close friend of Adlai E. Stevenson, twice the party's presidential nominee.

Republicans believe that Leonard W. Hall, former Republican national chairman, has the nod from former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and his associates for the nomination to contest Harriman for the governorship.

Hall announced his candidacy for the gubernatorial nomination on Monday.

His chief potential rivals are Nelson A. Rockefeller, philanthropist who has held federal posts under both Republican and Democratic administrations; and State Sen. Walter J. Mahoney of Buffalo, GOP majority leader.

Neither Rockefeller nor Mahoney has announced his candidacy.

No one is openly seeking the GOP Senate nomination in New York.

Onilea Dykes Exchanges Vows With Claude Parrott

On Sunday, May 25, at half after two in the afternoon, Miss Onilea Mae Dykes, daughter of Mrs. Ruby Dykes, Warrensburg, became the bride of Claude Dean Parrott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Parrott, Knob Noster, at the Baptist Church in Warrensburg. The double ring ceremony was read by the brother of the bridegroom, the Rev. Gene Parrott, Knob Noster, assisted by the Rev. Ernest Waite.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of iris, peonies and greenery, and on either side were seven-branch candelabra holding burning white tapers.

Preceding the ceremony, Mrs. Ernest Waite sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Muchmore, Warrensburg, who played a selection of wedding music and the traditional wedding marches.

The candlelighters, who also served as ushers, were William Parrott, Jefferson City, and Jerry Parrott, Knob Noster, cousins of the bridegroom.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Carl Downing, Warrensburg, the bride wore a white satin gown with bouffant skirt and fitted bodice fashioned with long sleeves tapering to points over the hands, and fastened down the back with tiny buttons. Her veil of illusion fell from a crown of tulle and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Lee Lyle, Knob Noster, wore a light blue nylon gown and her corsage was of pink carnations.

The couple is residing at Trailer City, Warrensburg.

The bride is a graduate of Knob Noster High School and will be a senior at Central Missouri State College this fall.

The bridegroom graduated from Knob Noster High School and recently received his degree from Central Missouri State College. He will teach industrial arts and mathematics in the Mayview High School this fall.

Honest John Rocket Blast Injures Three

FT. SILL, Okla. (AP) — Three Army officers at this artillery and missile center were injured slightly when an Honest John rocket exploded on its launcher.

Lt. Frederick U. Rorapough said he was placing fuses on the magnesium warhead yesterday when he heard one of them click. He shouted a warning to 25 soldiers in the area and leaped to the ground.

The warhead blew up, igniting the rocket motor which sent the

Knowland, Brown Win Party Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Democrat Edmund G. Brown led Republican U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland in the popular vote in yesterday's California gubernatorial primary election.

Each won his own party's nomination. But Brown led 3-2 in the combined total.

Both Brown, the state's attorney general, and Knowland confidently predicted victory in the November general election.

Knowland and Brown ran on both the Democratic and Republican tickets.

In California, a candidate may file on both party tickets. Candidates for all major offices did so.

In the contests for nominations for the seat to be vacated by Knowland, the Senate minority leader, Rep. Clair Engle carried the Democratic ticket and Gov. Goodwin J. Knight was the apparent winner on the Republican side.

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher polled a substantial vote on the Republican ticket in running second to Knight.

"I think I'll be the next governor of California," Brown predicted. "I'm very appreciative of the great vote I received—particularly on the Republican ticket. It shows there are many progressive Republicans in the state."

Brown was the first Democratic candidate for governor to lead a Republican opponent in the combined vote. He said he would continue to campaign on what he described as "bread and butter issues."

Knowland said the primary was "just the opening skirmish" and added that he expected "to be elected governor—and I hope to be re-elected governor after four years."

Mayor Helps Prevent KC Suicide Leap

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Kansas City's 300-pound mayor clambered out on a 28th-floor ledge of the City Hall and helped prevent a man from jumping off the ledge yesterday.

Mayor H. Roe Bartle diverted the attention of E. J. Lamar Fairbanks and police and firemen grabbed the man.

Fairbanks, 40-year-old father of six, later told police he only wanted to preach to the crowd below.

A part-time postal worker and dental student, Fairbanks put this question to Bartle when the mayor appeared on the ledge: "Mr. Mayor, will you stop smoking to keep me from jumping?"

A cigar smoker, Bartle hesitated about answering. While Fairbanks was putting the heat on the mayor, the rescuers slipped up and grabbed him.

The Wisdom Of Teenagers

America's teenagers seem to break into the news only with hair-raising stories of juvenile delinquency. But not long ago 53 teenagers from all parts of the country, representing 34 national organizations, met to advise their elders on questions of public health.

This wasn't brassiness on their part. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis had summoned them to find out why teenagers—one of the most polio-susceptible groups—had put off getting their Salk vaccinations. Nearly half the U.S. population under 20 either has no vaccination at all or has not completed the full series of shots. Why?

Note the reasons given by the teenagers themselves—and note, too, that none of these reasons is valid: Polio is way down, so why bother? Sheer laziness or indifference. Fear of the needle. Thought is was an infant's disease and "couldn't happen to me." Didn't know that "somebody else's vaccination doesn't protect you."

As for ways to bring vaccination to teenagers, here are some nuggets of sound teenage wisdom—proof that hot rods, rock 'n roll and TV are not all they think about: "Scare the pants off of them." Make vaccination a fad like wearing buckskin shoes or Yul Brynner haircuts. Direct information especially to teenagers, since they consider themselves a special group, neither children nor adults. Persuade parents of the necessity for vaccination since teenagers are swayed by the actions of their parents.

If you have teenage children, set them a good example by getting your own Salk shots. Then see that they get theirs. This year, for the first time, there is vaccine enough for everybody, regardless of age.

Military Says Clean Bomb Is Too Dirty

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Admiral Lewis Strauss, the atomic energy chairman, is trying to hide one of the reddest faces in Washington. The Defense Department has just rejected one of his "clean" H-bombs because it is too dirty for tactical military use.

This just about knocks out Strauss's long and persistent argument that the United States was producing a "clean" bomb which would be effective against combat troops but not injure innocent civilians.

The Admiral, whose advice President Eisenhower accepts as the law on atomic matters, is hiding behind official secrecy, and probably won't admit the above facts. However, here is the inside story of what happened.

Strauss had planned to show this particular bomb to foreign observers this summer as a "clean" bomb. It was supposed to be used for precision bombing to knock out specific, pinpoint military targets behind enemy lines. But tests showed that it would spread too much radioactivity.

The Admiral, who spent most of his life as an investment banker, not as a scientist, had failed to take into account the fact that when an H-bomb explodes it sets off new radioactivity in the atmosphere. He was figuring only the actual radioactive particles set off by the trigger mechanism of the bomb, not the "induced" radioactivity which follows the explosion. This can contaminate the atmosphere just as dangerously as the actual particles from the trigger bomb.

Thus the Admiral has not cleaned up the bomb, only reduced one kind of radioactivity without curbing another.

Note — For some time, Senator Clinton Anderson (D., N.M.) has said that the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission is all wet regarding clean bombs. Time after time, Senator Anderson with Senator Gore of Tennessee and Congressmen Hollifield of California and Price of Illinois have blasted Strauss for confusing the public.

Lodge Warns Dulles

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, our able but harassed envoy to the United Nations, has been sending urgent messages to John Foster Dulles suggesting that Admiral Strauss drop his "clean" bomb idea. Lodge warns that the Soviet has produced some technological information which will blow Admiral Strauss's clean bomb ideas out of the water.

Lodge has rushed to Dulles a copy of a technical paper prepared by Soviet scientist O. I. Leipunsky, showing that a hydrogen explosion threatens mankind with as much radiation damage as an ordinary atomic explosion. This would support the argument that an H-bomb hasn't been made "clean."

Lodge warned that Leipunsky's paper is packed with complicated formulas and technical arguments. Many of them can be refuted, but Lodge fears this won't diminish the propaganda effect.

In the translation that Lodge sent to the State Department, Leipunsky concludes after pages of technical explanation: "The total number of persons suffering genetic damage as the result of the explosion of a 10-megaton pure hydrogen bomb... is estimated at 49,000, and through the explosion of an ordinary atomic bomb at 41,000. The total number of leukemias (cases of blood cancer) induced by the explosion of a 10-megaton pure hydrogen bomb is

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

THE DARK AGES —Those who think all movement is progress take a dim view of William McKinley. The "upward and onward" boys put the 1890's in the Dark Ages.

It is surprising to learn that when McKinley was President one out of five high school students studied physics. Today, 1 in 22. In those Dark Ages more than half of our lads studied algebra. Today, that is unknown land to 75 per cent of them.

In McKinley's time, John Dewey and his "progressive education" methods had not put "life adjustment" ahead of preparation for life. Schools for baton-twirling, and "how to know when you are really in love" had not been built.

It is really sad what a poor education our pa's and ma's got back in McKinley's time. It's mighty strange that men had enough brains in the 1890's to invent the automobile, diesel engine, motion pictures, radio, color photography, x-rays, and, oh, yes, the airplane only 2 years after McKinley died.

All these benefactors of mankind had studied algebra, physics, geometry, etc. But what good did that do them? They must have found their inventions by accident while stumbling through the Dark Ages.

Please explain later inventions by men who were boys in McKinley's time — like Kettering's self-starter, Sperry's gyro compass, Hewitt's mercury vapor lamp and a lot of other museum pieces.

Strange, too, that they all fell in love without help from teacher or Uncle Sam!

Communists Still Picking Up Pieces

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soviet Communists blew the roof off in 1956, and have been going around picking up the pieces ever since. They picked up a piece Tuesday, disclaiming the idea that communism outside the Soviet Union could develop independently of Moscow.

Nikita Khrushchev, then party boss and now premier, put on a shattering performance as principal speaker of the Soviet Communist party's 20th Congress in February 1956.

He not only denounced Stalin's one-man rule and the "cult of the individual" but painted him as a murderer. He pictured the Soviet Union in the future as being guided by a collective leadership instead of that of one man.

This had shock effect on some non-Soviet Communists who had slavishly followed and defended every twist and turn laid down by Stalin. This brutal disillusionment drove some Communists out of communism. It helped split the American Communist party.

But this was also a time—in 1956—when the Kremlin was trying to woo back Marshal Tito and his Yugoslav Communists who had broken with Stalin and were pursuing their own course, independent of Moscow.

So long as Tito could survive and thrive separate from the Soviet Union and her European satellites, he would be a constant encouragement to them to try the same.

The 20th Congress was told that socialism, meaning communism, could develop at different speeds and in different ways in different countries and that conformity to the Moscow model was not compulsory.

This was trying to make the best of a bad situation, since Tito showed no signs of conforming. It was also propaganda to help Communist parties in non-Communist countries make a show of acting as nationalists concerned about their own countries' Communist development without subservience to Moscow.

But it had a bad effect. It looked as if Moscow was loosening—or losing—its grip on Communists outside the Soviet Union. It caused confusion in non-Soviet Communist ranks. And it gave captive peoples the idea they might throw off communism altogether.

The first bad effects showed in Poland. There were riots there. Then the Hungarians revolted in the fall of 1956. Things were getting out of hand. The Soviets sent in their army and crushed the Hungarian rebels.

Dr. Jordan Says

Doctors Now Discount Part Exposure Plays In Ringworm

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Athlete's foot is a skin disorder also often called ringworm. But it is not caused by a worm, nor is it confined to athletes or to the foot. A better, though tongue-twisting name, is dermatophytosis.

The disease is caused by fungi which belong to the plant world. Most fungi grow best in the damp and dark and stay alive for considerable periods of time when not exposed to the sun and when moisture is present.

The symptoms of ringworm (still a convenient name) are most likely to be noticeable in warm weather. It was formerly thought that the chances of acquiring the responsible fungus were greater in warm weather when more people frequented pools, locker rooms and when they perspired more.

In recent years some doubt has been cast on this point of view. In one experiment, for example, 88 volunteers placed their healthy feet for 30 minutes in water which had been contaminated either from the feet of someone known to harbor the fungus or by the addition of strong fungus material.

Not one of them caught the fungus disease, though at the end of six weeks 38 carried fungus material on their feet, some of which was not even the same kind as that to which they had been exposed.

The conclusion drawn from this experiment was that "exposure to infectious material does not play much of a part in causing acute attacks of ringworm."

It is thought that infectious fungi are almost continuously present on the feet and that what makes them cause trouble is lowered bodily resistance.

It was also concluded that it is pointless to worry about infection from carpets, bath mats, bath tubs, shoes, slippers, towels, socks or shower areas. This is quite different from our past ideas on the subject.

It now seems that the impor-

But Tito wouldn't be wooed. He continued to play footsie with both the Soviets and the West, going his own independent way, seeking aid from both sides. In recent weeks the Soviets finally and publicly got sore at him.

And Tuesday in Bulgaria Khrushchev hit out at the Yugoslav boss. Said Khrushchev: "No one will ever believe that there are two kinds of socialism (communism) in the world—one which world reaction furiously hates and the other which is agreeable to imperialists and to which they are giving their help and support."

Khrushchev said the Yugoslav leaders had declined to confer with other Communist parties to draft a general Communist program.

With these statements Khrushchev threw out the window those encouraging words of 1956: that different countries could follow their own road to communism without conforming to the Soviet model.

If any non-Soviet Communists took those words of 1956 seriously, and few probably did, they're disenchanted now.

Thus slowly and even painfully Khrushchev has been forced to repair the damage the Soviets did to themselves in February 1956.

Doctors Now Discount Part Exposure Plays In Ringworm

Athlete's foot is a skin disorder also often called ringworm. But it is not caused by a worm, nor is it confined to athletes or to the foot. A better, though tongue-twisting name, is dermatophytosis.

The disease is caused by fungi which belong to the plant world. Most fungi grow best in the damp and dark and stay alive for considerable periods of time when not exposed to the sun and when moisture is present.

The symptoms of ringworm (still a convenient name) are most likely to be noticeable in warm weather. It was formerly thought that the chances of acquiring the responsible fungus were greater in warm weather when more people frequented pools, locker rooms and when they perspired more.

In recent years some doubt has been cast on this point of view. In one experiment, for example, 88 volunteers placed their healthy feet for 30 minutes in water which had been contaminated either from the feet of someone known to harbor the fungus or by the addition of strong fungus material.

Not one of them caught the fungus disease, though at the end of six weeks 38 carried fungus material on their feet, some of which was not even the same kind as that to which they had been exposed.

The conclusion drawn from this experiment was that "exposure to infectious material does not play much of a part in causing acute attacks of ringworm."

It is thought that infectious fungi are almost continuously present on the feet and that what makes them cause trouble is lowered bodily resistance.

It was also concluded that it is pointless to worry about infection from carpets, bath mats, bath tubs, shoes, slippers, towels, socks or shower areas. This is quite different from our past ideas on the subject.

It now seems that the impor-

Timely Washington Visit By British Trade-Minded Group

By Esther Van Wagoner Tufty
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — British trade, like British diplomacy, is a seasoned, exact science. I discovered in an interview with a top authority, Sir Norman Kipping, who happened into the capital as discussion of the proposed 5-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Act was in full swing.

The timing was accidental, as this Director of the Federation of British Industry "just had to drop into Washington while on the continent" with a British trade-minded group, who had spent some time seeing Canadian manufacturers and policy makers from one end of Canada to the other.

In an interview, this genial, knowledgeable Britisher admitted, the timing of the Canadian visit was not accidental, but was chosen to explore ways and means of increasing Canadian purchasing of British goods, while the pro-British atmosphere created by Diefenbaker administration prevailed.

This FBI man (not to be confused with the American version, altho Sir Norman is a detective of economic trends and moods) didn't mind answering questions. It seems the press, radio, and television reporters of Canada had conditioned him to news interviews.

Was the recession in the USA worrying businessmen in England and Canada?

"As yet, only somewhat disturbed by shrinking profits, not unemployment, and can hold out until Fall for an upswing."

Do British auto manufacturers fear Detroit manufacturers will enter the small car market?

"The trick is to determine just how many foreign cars it is wise to send into the USA without stirring up American competition." His guess: 150,000 small automobiles.

On the matter of tariffs and quotas imposed on British imports into the United States, he mentioned the difficulty in making long range plans when the trade agreements are extended (unenthusiastically) for only a year, as they have been in recent years.

He is quite aware of and sympathetic with American manufacturers, especially those in a one industry town, who can be hit by cheaper foreign competition. But he quietly pointed out that this is not peculiar to America, as every country has areas adversely affected by new conditions. He cited the textile mills of Lancaster in his England, which are suffering "a similar natural hazard of business." The Lancaster folk did not like this turn of events, but turned to manufacturing other commodities. A foreign trade policy must serve the whole economy, he contends.

The FBI is not comparable to the NAM (National Association of Manufacturers) as it is not a "management" organization as opposed to a Labor Union. Rather it is the voice of industry, to which the British government listens in making economic decisions.

Sir Norman, who had conferences with Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, World Bank officials, and others, never forgets that 50 per cent of the productivity of the world is American, as compared to 10 percent each for Canada, England and West Germany.

Sir Norman's approach to trade between England and the United States is a matter of delicate balance, timing, and understanding. It isn't as simple as tariffs. He knows when to compromise. For example, he orders a British scotch and soda, but takes it American with ice, "but just one cube, please!"

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Diefenbacher, D.D.

Talk, talk, talk keeps some people from hearing what others have to say. These folk who do so much chattering often have little to say, but they use many many words to say the little which is on their minds. They repeat themselves and they bring into the conversation a great many unrelated ideas.

When we talk, as when we work, it would be well to think and plan before we begin our monologues. We ought to be certain that our ideas are related and that our words are clearly expressive. Also, we should allow the listener to answer us and to give his opinions.

Prayer is a conversation, with God and should be used in the same way as person-to-person conversation. Prayer should be thoughtful and planned. It should make sense and should not be too verbose. What is more, we must give God a chance to talk. Every prayer requires a listening time if it is to be effective.

Ruth Millett Says

Something's Wrong When Yard Comes Before Kids

Why does a family buy a home in the suburbs?

Usually, it's because they think it is a good place to bring up children.

And what happens when they become the proud owners of a suburban home?

Well, all too often Mama and Papa get so engrossed in having a beautiful yard—especially if Mama joins the neighborhood garden club! that the yard becomes a kind of keep-off-the-grass show place, where the kids aren't allowed to play.

A baseball game in the front yard would wear down the grass, a boy-built clubhouse in the backyard would horrify the neighbors and ruin the view from the patio where the adults like to do their entertaining.

And if Mama and Papa try to buck the yards-must-be-beautiful movement to the extent of letting the kids use the yard to play ball, plant small vegetable plots, erect lemonade stands, etc., the neighbors begin to look down their noses—even though that is the very yard where their own youngsters spend most of their time.

In California two small boys who built a playhouse in a big tree in their front yard were solemnly told by the city that they had violated zoning restrictions by building a tree house without first getting a building permit.

This may have been a symptom of how this yard-beautiful craze has been growing.

Matter of FACT

Ireland is probably the only country in the world with half as many people now as it had a little more than 100 years ago. The Republic of Ireland had a population of eight million people in 1845 as compared with 2,960,593 now. The decline began in 1830 because of a shortage of jobs and food. The potato famine of 1846 reduced the population further.

COLUMBIA MISSOURIAN: False Food—The last stronghold of the genuine has finally been invaded. Scientists in a government laboratory in Maryland have recently developed a nutritionally perfect food, a quart of which per day will keep a person happy and healthy — or at least healthy.

The food is a liquid that requires no cooking and has no waste matter. Actually, the purpose of its development was the study of reactions of cancer to various food elements. Speculation has also arisen as to the possibility of its use for future "space-men."

At any rate, the new false food isn't likely to sweep the market. Besides its production cost — $34 a quart — its taste is singularly unattractive. Handy as the man-made meals will be for scientific purposes, they can't measure up to a good hamburger.

Kremlin Has Trouble With Higher Educational Problem

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP FOREIGN NEWS ANALYST

The Kremlin is having problems with young people who leave secondary schools but can't get admitted to higher education — and don't want to become manual laborers.

Nikita Khrushchev reports Soviet institutions of high education are currently accepting about 450,000 new students a year, only half of them for full day courses. With secondary schools graduating over one million students this means, according to Khrushchev, that about 700,000 cannot get into higher educational institutions or technical training institutions.

For comparison: government estimates indicate that slightly more than 1½ million Americans will graduate from high school this year and around 740,000 go into institutions of higher education as first-time students.

The 700,000 Soviet graduates unable to continue their education, at least for the time being, will have to seek jobs, most of them as common laborers. Few of these 700,000 will have had any intensive vocational training.

The Kremlin is trying to solve the problem of what to do with these young people by mass labor mobilizations. In addition many of the boys will be mobilized for military training.

Khrushchev recently noted that certain youths go to work unwill-ingly in factories and the like, considering such work insulting.

The remedy which Khrushchev had proposed is drastic reorganization of secondary education so as to provide all students with vocational training the last years of the course.

There is a political angle in this. In 1956 - 1957 it became apparent that Soviet students in higher education were discontented with the communist system. The Kremlin has chosen to clamp down on them by making it much tougher to get in higher education, by sending a higher proportion of manual labor, and by recruiting secondary school graduates to manual labor, and by recruiting higher education students in larger percentage from among persons hardened by labor in Soviet enterprises.

SOME OF THE LITTLE LEAGUERS—Seen on the Little League baseball diamond are a part of the 600 youngsters who are just breaking up after the official opening of the 1958 Little League season. It is noteworthy to see the bleachers in back of the screen are practically empty, and the majority of those in the seats are youngsters who are friends of the players. The teams are breaking up with the Minor League "A" and "B" teams preparing to head for Housel Park for their games, while the Majors wait to open the season at the stadium. It was a big evening in the lives of these youngsters who begin a full summertime play of baseball for those in the age brackets between eight and 12 years inclusive. Mayor Abe Silverman hurled the first ball and Jack Faber, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, acted as catcher in the opening ceremony. (Democrat-Capitol photo)

Girl Wrestlers Supply Thrills Tuesday Nite

Temper failed to cool during the past two weeks and things were just as hot in the wrestling ring at the National Guard Armory Tuesday night as they were two weeks ago. The only lacking excitement was a near riot at the ringside, but the final match saw Otto Von Krupp stay in the ring until the big end of the crowd had left the armory.

The women's team-tag event was as spirited as two weeks ago, and again the pair of Lorraine Johnson and Penny Banner came out on top over Kay Noble and Kathy Star. The victory was a rough one and it took some fancy free Texas rules to make it possible for the winners to win.

For sure the winners didn't win to the satisfaction of the fans, they were anything but the favorites in this scrap—and it was a scrap. The fight was on for 10 minutes and 45 seconds for the first fall, which Kay Nobel succeeded in getting over Johnson. A series of drop kicks and body presses, had Johnson lying all over the canvas with Noble coming in on a tag to allow put in her series of drop kicks and a press to win.

The second fall went to Johnson who won on a body press over Noble after both Banner and Johnson had worked her over—but good. The time was eight minutes and 55 seconds. The third fall went to Banner over Starr after the victim had been dropped kicked and body slammed all over the ring by both Johnson and Banner. The final touch was a drop kick out of the corner by Banner and a press to win in five minutes and five seconds.

The top billing between Sonny Myers and Otto Von Krupp was another rough one with Myers winning the third fall when Von Krupp was disqualified. Von Krupp took the first fall in 11 minutes and 55 seconds with his famed reverse head lock. Myers won the second in 10 minutes and 22 seconds with his sleeper hold.

In the third period the two wrestlers were all over the ring and finally went out of the ropes beside the ring on the west side where they did battle. Myers finally got back into the ring and Von Krupp was disqualified when he was counted out.

It was a hectic match. First

Boxing Drills End For Martinez, Akins

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Boxing drills end today for Vince Martinez and Virgil Akins, who fight for the world welterweight title Friday.

Both will probably work out on light and heavy bags tomorrow.

Von Krupp had his knee support removed on orders of the commission when he was caught using his knee on Myers head. Then when he was disqualified he jumped to the ring, ripped off Joe Ace's "T" shirt and began slugging him. Ace was no match for Von Krupp and Myers stepped in, grabbed the German and pinned his arms in back of him while Ace worked the huge wrestler over with some hefty swings.

Von Krupp was fined $100 for assaulting the referee in the ring, and a possible suspension may be added. However, the punishment dealt to him by Ace as Myers held him, satisfied the thrill hungry fans.

In an opening event Flying Joe Scarpa and Thor Hagen wrestled for 30 minutes to a draw. Some fancy holds, drop kicks and flying drop kicks were witnessed in the event.

Holden Takes 5-4 Victory From Chiefs

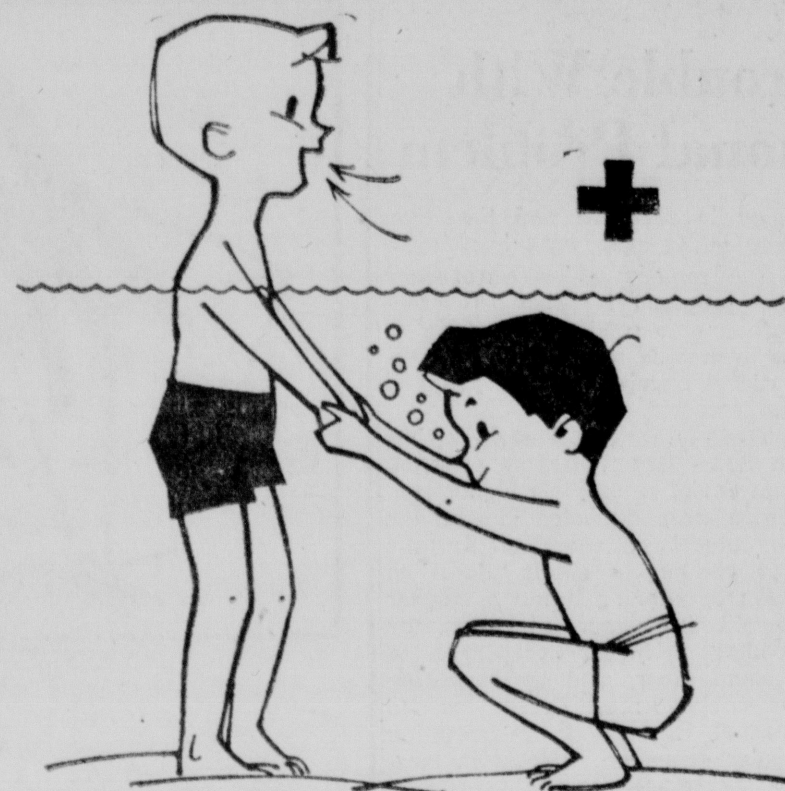

The Sedalia Chiefs tasted defeat for the first time last night as they dropped a hotly-contested game to the Holden Jays on the Holden diamond, 5-4. The Chiefs contested two umpire decisions to no avail.

In the third inning, an argument resulted from a call at first, when Dale Miller hit into a double play. In the ninth, another argument developed when Kubli hit a grounder to second. The second sacker fielded the ball cleanly, but the throw pulled the first baseman off the sack. The umpire ruled he tagged the runner going by.

The Jays captured the lead in the second with one run, two hits and one error. This run stood until the top of the seventh when the Chiefs scored two runs on consecutive hits by Harvey, Droegge and Owens. In the bottom of the seventh, the Jays regained the lead with two runs on three consecutive errors.

Sedalia came back to score two, and knock out starter Merle Fink in the eighth. Dale Miller reached first on an error. Charlie Newman singled Miller to third, then stole second. Larry Mines brought both runners home with a hefty double to left field. This put the Chiefs in a 4-3 lead.

This lead was short-lived, however, as Holden scored the tying and winning runs on two walks, a hit and an error. This put Holden at the top of the loop with a 3-0 record. The Chiefs have split their two contests.

Clyde Kubli went the route for the Chiefs. He allowed only four hits, but six walks and five errors kept him in trouble. He struck out 12. Merle Fink started for Holden. In the seven innings he worked, he allowed nine hits, walked two, ever, as Holden scored the tying and winning runs on two walks, pitched the last two innings and was unscratched.

Gloria Grahame Sues Studio for $100,000
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gloria Grahame asks $100,000 damages from 20th Century-Fox, claiming the studio tried to make her play a bit role.
The actress, who won an Academy Award in 1952, said the role was so small that her standing as an actress would have been injured had she played it.
Last November the studio sued her for $12,330. Fox said this sum was paid her in 1955 to play a role in "Love Is a Many Splendored Thing." The studio said she took the pay; then refused to play the part, and did not return the money.
Her action, brought yesterday, was a cross-complaint to the studio's suit.

Court Drops Suit
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Court dropped a contempt action against film producer Sid Luft when he paid $400 for support of his son John, 9, during March.
The action was brought against Luft by his ex-wife, actress Lynn Bari. She said he was $3,000 in arrears in support payments.
Luft, now married to Judy Garland, convinced the court that he wasn't intentionally behind in his payments. He said much of the $3,000 mentioned by Miss Bari was for summer weeks when John stayed with him.
He said that he and Miss Garland had earned nothing this year, and that he had to borrow money to pay household expenses.

Can Forget Worries About Being Deported
OMAHA (AP) — Harry Lee, 72-year-old Chinese cook, can forget his worries about being deported. James A. Glasgow, acting Omaha District director of immigration, gives that assurance to Lee, who entered this country as a stowaway in 1918 and has lived in many cities since then.
The Chinese cook now lives in retirement in Davenport, Iowa. The government checking old records, had instructed Lee to produce affidavits that he had not left the country since 1924. He said he could not get them.
The immigration official said Lee may achieve the status of a permanent resident through registry proceedings to create a record of lawful entry that does not now exist.
Lee registered with the New York Chinese consulate some 24 years ago.

Completes Flight Leg In Grounded Plane
ALPHARETTA, Ga. (AP) — C. G. Dutcher of Winnetka, Ill., made one leg of his flight to Florida on the ground.
Flying his light plane to West Palm Beach, where his wife is, he ran out of gas.
He landed in a corn field, got some gas from a filling station, then taxied down a highway about 10 miles to a baseball field, which provided enough room for him to take off.

Not a Thing to Wear
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sophia Loren had to fly here from Europe because she just didn't have a thing to wear.
The Italian actress starts a new movie next week on a location in Miami, Fla. She said she hadn't had a fitting for the dresses designed for her part.
So she flew in from Copenhagen yesterday. With her was her husband Carlo Ponti. They have been living in Zurich.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN — Myrna Lou Case, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Case, Green Ridge, Route 2, received the award for the outstanding girl citizen of Green Ridge High School. Mary Lou lettered in volleyball and softball, was vice-president of the Student Council, was the annual queen and voted the most popular girl by the students, received an award pin for typing, was an officer in Home Economics, was in several musical ensembles and was in the class sextette that had been singing together for six years.

and Mrs. John Beenstra got rid of two swarms of bees which took up residence at their house but have been unable to eliminate the honey left behind. It's dripping down walls and screens from between the roof beams. Efforts to bore holes and siphon out the honey have been unsuccessful.

UAW to Return To Talks With The Big Three

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union, holding an extension agreement with American Motors Corp., set about to day to get its contract negotiations back on course with the car industry's big three.

Meetings were scheduled with General Motors Corp. and with Ford Motor Co., and another with Chrysler Corp., was believed in the offing.

American Motors, a smaller manufacturer, ignored the precedent of the big three and agreed with the UAW yesterday to an indefinite contract extension.

If AMC and the union fail to agree on new terms by the time their present contract expires June 15, their three-year pact will remain in effect for an indefinite period.

The big three employ half a million men compared to AMC's 20,000. No contracts, as such, now exist between the UAW and the big three, although the companies are maintaining wages and certain other essentials of the expired agreements.

The GM contract expired last Thursday and the Ford and Chrysler contracts Sunday.

American Motors has been the only auto firm to show an increase in car sales over last year. Its relative market position could thus be hurt more by a union strike.

However, in event of a contract extension, AMC employees would not get the annual productivity increase of 7 cents an hour which the 1955-58 agreements calls for. A new contract would be necessary to assure both the increases.

Leonard Wood for basic training.

Convicted Kidnapers Married in Prison

MONROE, Wash. (AP)—George Edward Collins and Katherine Meyers were married yesterday in a quiet church ceremony which their two children missed but prison guards did not.

Collins is a convicted kidnaper, serving up to 10 years at the Monroe State Reformatory. His bride is on probation for her part in the kidnaping last winter of an 8-year-old Edmonds, Wash., boy. The youngster escaped from Collins unharmed.

Both newlyweds are 21. Mrs. Collins had said she would bring their year-old daughter and 2-week-old son to the ceremony, but left them home. Only members of Collins' immediate family, newsmen and the guards—dressed in dark blue business suits—were present.

David Bauer, a church elder, performed the ceremony in the Seventh Day Adventist Church. The wedding was approved by state prison authorities after Collins' conviction.

Must Pay Income Tax When Divorced

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Don't expect benefits of a joint income tax return if you're awaiting a final divorce decree, the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals has ruled.

The court said a $7,256 deficiency assessment against Mrs. Kenneth T. Sullivan of Montgomery County, Md., had to be paid even though the couple's 1951 return was filed while their final divorce decree was still pending.
